Zaccaria Takes the Plunge Once Again in the Save The Bay Swim

Saunderstown: Mark Zaccaria today announced that he will participate in his tenth consecutive Save The Bay Swim across the east passage of the Narragansett Bay. On Saturday, July 26th, nearly 400 participants will swim 1.7 miles from Newport to Jamestown. Zaccaria will be in a group where each swimmer is accompanied by a Kayaker for safety. Save The Bay is dedicated to protecting the health and future of the Narragansett Bay. The annual swim is a fundraiser for the organization that each year contributes hundreds of thousands of dollars to support conservation and educational efforts year round. “It’s an amazing organization, and I’m pleased to support their efforts by participating annually in this event,” said Zaccaria.

Zaccaria will be accompanied by his campaign manager, Parker Lacoste, who will be safety observer and will provide navigational assistance from the kayak. “This will be an opportunity for Parker and I to build upon the foundation of trust we have established. Hopefully he will be able to keep up,” said Zaccaria.
